DR. DAVID GERDOLLE

David Gerdolle was born in Epinal (France) in May 1970, and graduated from the Dental Faculty of Nancy in 1993. Since then, he has achieved a number of PGs in Oral and Osteo-articular Biology, Prosthodontics and Adhesive Dentistry.

David was a member of the teaching staff of the University of Nancy from 1993 until 2005, and has been in private practice in Vevey-Montreux (CH) since 2006.

His practice is dedicated to conservative and minimally invasive dentistry.

David is involved in postgraduate dental teaching at the University of Paris (F), as well as in research programs on resin composites at the University of Nancy. He is lecturing in seminars and congresses, giving hands-on courses and performing live case demonstrations in the field of adhesive dentistry and indirect restorations in particular.

As author or co-author, David has published widely in scientific national and international journals on this topic.
